35,000 acres of land have been overflowed in Illinois by the break in the Warsaw and Indian Grove levees.

Senator Mahone was arrested in Washington on suspicion that he intended to fight a duel with General Early.

Rev. A. A. Boshamer, an able and popular minister of the M. E. Church, South, died in Raleigh, on the 11th inst., of fever.

A Massachusetts regiment behaved so badly last week in Richmond, as to cause their arrest and reprimand from Gen. Hancock.

According to an estimate made by the Indianapolis Sentinel, the illness and burial of the late President involved an expenditure of about $347,000.

The trade in Confederate bonds at Richmond, Va., is represented as lively. One banking house has purchased one million dollars of them, and is still buying, at very low figures, however.

A bloodless duel was fought near Richmond, Va., between H. H. Riddleberger and George D. Wise, on Saturday. Four ineffectual shots were fired when an amicable adjustment was effected.

William M. Kincaid, the great leaper of Forepaugh's circus, in turning a double somersault over several elephants at Pulaski, Tennessee, fell, breaking his spine, from the effects of which he has since died.

Patrick A. Collins, President of the Irish National Land League of the United States, has issued an address calling upon members of the League and friends of the cause to respond to the appeal from Ireland.

Advices from Mazatlan, Mexico, indicate that the hurricane which visited that section on the 29th of September was terribly destructive. Several vessels were wrecked, freshets occurred in neighboring rivers, 300 houses were destroyed and over 500 lives lost.

An Irish indignation meeting held at Chicago, on last Wednesday night, was attended by 4,000 persons. The resolutions adopted pledge the Irishmen of Chicago to support the Land League, and call on Irish farmers to obey the edicts of Parnell and Dillon.

The government has fixed no valuation upon mutilated silver coin other than the market value of the silver they may contain. They are purchased at the mints by weight as bullion, and the value depends on the price of the silver on the day the coin is received at the mint. At present the price paid by the mint at Philadelphia is $1.12 per ounce, fine.

Disasters to life and property wrought inland in China by typhoons are very great. A village named Shetosa, in the Kow district, has been completely swept away by the floods and all the inhabitants drowned. A steam launch was dispatched to the locality, and upwards of 200 bodies were recovered. A typhoon passed Foo Chow, doing great damage to the foreign town and to the native shipping.

More arrests under the coercion act have been made in Ireland, including that of a Miss Hobnall, of Ballydoon, for persisting in exhibiting a copy of the "no rent" manifesto in the window of her house. The Dublin correspondents say the accounts from different parts of the country since the promulgation of the proclamation against the Land League have been satisfactory. There has been no disturbance of business, and the people are much relieved.

The Evening Tribune is the title of a new daily paper to be commenced in Greensboro on Tuesday evening November 1st, at $4 a year, $2 for six months, and $1 for three months. It will contain the latest news from 12 to 24 hours in advance of any other daily newspaper published in N. C. It received at points along the Richmond & Danville, North Carolina and Salem Branch Railroads. It will be "independent in expression, controlled by no political party, class clique, organization or interest." R. T. Fulghum, editor and proprietor.

The reunion of the North Carolina ex-confederates during fair week, resulted in a permanent organization, with the following officers: President, Col. Wharton J. Green; Vice Presidents: first district, Gen. N. P. Roberts; second district, J. E. Porter; third district, C. J. Harris; fourth district, Joseph J. Davis; fifth district, C. B. Watson; sixth district, R. T. Bennett; seventh district, Wm. Overman; eighth district, Theodore Davidson; at large, W. F. Beasley, S. H. Badger; secretary, L. L. Polk. Stirring speeches were made by Col. Green, Gov. Jarvis, Gen. Clingman, Capt. Coke, Col. Polk, Gen. Cox, Capt. Davis and others.

The Charlotte Observer says: Rumors were rife on the streets yesterday afternoon that there had been a considerable row at Yorktown. The reports finally settled into a story that the Southern Stars of Tarboro, became involved in a row with the Ninth Massachusetts Regiment, brought on by the impertinence of the latter. It was further reported that the Thirteenth New York Regiment had taken the part of the North Carolina boys and some of the men of the Ninth Massachusetts had been hurt with bayonets. Intelligence received last night from Richmond is to the effect that the only foundation for these rumors is the misbehavior of members of the Ninth Massachusetts in Richmond, where some of them were put in confinement, and a continuation of this disorderly conduct by the same regiment at Yorktown. By order of General Hancock the regiment was put under arrest. This is all there is of it, according to our information, and this is in accord with the statements about the misbehavior of the Ninth Massachusetts Regiment in the Richmond papers.

Godey's Lady's Book for November opens with a beautiful Steel Plate engraving, "Recalled to Life," a richly colored double-page Fashion Illustration, with numerous engravings of different designs of the Latest Fashions. The Diagram Pattern is a novelty in the fact that it is a Lady's Bodice without shoulder seams. The novelette is a thrilling story of land and sea, by Thomas S. Collier, entitled "Beyond." There are numerous shorter stories by good writers, Aunt Ruth's funny sayings, and indeed the general get up of the magazine is worthy of all praise. One thing to be said of this old favorite is, that there is never any vulgarity or immorality in its pages, and, therefore, it is worthy of a place in any refined home. Any of our readers who do not take the Lady's Book can be supplied promptly, by leaving their orders at this office. We will furnish our own paper and the Lady's Book for the low price of $3 per annum. As the next issue will close the current year now is a good time to send in your subscription. The publication office is 1006 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

WHEAT AND CORN.—It is now pretty well ascertained that the yield this year will be much larger than has been anticipated. The reported averages have been the work of speculators. Of course both crops are short, and prices will rule high, but not to the alarming extent predicted.

The total production of wheat for 1881 is set down at 368,962,000 bushels, as against 480,000,000 in 1880; which is a falling off of 111,038,000 bushels.

New England produces 1,000,000 bushels, the Middle States 34,500,000; the Southern States 40,000,000; and the Western States 248,139,000 bushels. The Pacific coast contributes its share 33,325,000 bushels. Colorado and the Territories 12,000,000 bushels. So that the West, so-called, does the far largest part of the work.

The returns of the corn crop are less favorable than those of the wheat crop, but the operators will be anything but pleased with the actual show, as they have been gambling on a half crop. As a whole, the corn crop of the United States for 1881 is short about one-third of the usual yield of recent years. The total crop is set down in actual figures at 1,193,641,000 bushels.—Patriot.

—Ex-Governor W. W. Holden and T. H. Briggs, Jr., were, the other day, ordained as Deacons of the Salisbury Street Baptist church, in Raleigh. The ceremony was of a very interesting character, and was witnessed by a large concourse of people.—Visitor.

AT YORKTOWN.

An Interesting Account of the Ceremonies.

From the News and Observer.

The North Carolina troops, in accordance with arrangements, arrived Monday night after the usual delays and annoyances. On reaching Yorktown its ere while glittering prospect resolved itself into a collection of broad shanties, mingled with a few antique structures, and a waste of deep sand further inland, through which the long lines of troops toiled to the camp, a mile and a half away from the landing. The location of the camp, however, was certainly so admirable as to make full amends for any other drawbacks. The arrangements of the grounds were perfect, and North Carolina was given a position which was at once the most commanding and prominent on the grounds. It faced the noble expanse of York River, on which was one of the greatest fleets ever assembled on these waters, save in the late war. A gallant show these made, with lines of bunting from spirit to topmast, the flags of every country under heaven being blended in friendly rivalry. In a palatial steamer was Gen. Hancock, while on many of the vessels were regiments of troops, who remained aboard save on parade occasions. The scene was one never to be forgotten, for on the shore the show was truly a brave one. Acres of tents whitened the vast plain or plateau, and the troops of the various States were placed in position according to the seniority of their commonwealths, North Carolina being pleasantly situated between New York and Rhode Island. The courtesies shown by the troops of these States will doubtless long live in pleasant remembrance.

Despite some drawbacks in the way of tardiness of preparation, the whole celebration was on a grand scale, and the rush of visitors something enormous. Few indeed were the comforts of the majority of these. But inside the extensive limits of the camp there was perfect order, and the dwellers under the canvases were in all respects at home. At the landing the extortioners actually sold water, while fancy prices were the rule for everything.

Tuesday morning President Arthur assisted at the laying of the cornerstone of the grand monument. The impressive ceremony was witnessed by a vast crowd, of whom four thousand were given seats on the stands. The number of Masons present was very large, and among them was Mr. Donald W. Bain, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina. The monument site is on a bold bluff, within a stone's throw of the river, and it will be a landmark, observable for a great distance.

The other ceremonies of the day were an address of welcome by Governor Holliday, of Virginia, and speeches in response, etc. The great majority of the people saw nothing of these ceremonies. The President of the United States was received by Governor Holliday, of Virginia, as were also the French and German delegations, the diplomatic corps, the Governors, etc.

A prayer was offered by Rev. Robert Nelson, of Virginia, and after the rendition of the "Star-Spangled Banner," by a chorus of three hundred voices, the United States flag was unfurled, and instantly came the thunder of salutes by the fleet. Then the "Marseillaise" was sung, and Governor Holliday delivered his address.

In the evening of Tuesday there was a beautiful pyrotechnic display from the men-of-war lying in the river, and following came a storm, which raged all night, and which reduced the temperature from that of summer to that of winter—a happy change indeed.

The North Carolina State Band, Prof. W. H. Neave (thirty pieces) which was by the way, very much complimented, was honored on Tuesday by being chosen to give the first concert at the band stand.

On the afternoon of Tuesday the troops of North Carolina were gratified by a visit from a number of distinguished gentlemen from their State, who came ashore from the vessel on which they were staying as the guests of the centennial commission. Among these gentlemen were Hon. J. J. Davis, Captain Charles M. Cooke, Capt. S. A. Ashe and others. They were cheered by the troops, and were delighted with North Carolina's representation.

On Wednesday the most imposing exercises in the way of reception were held at the monument site. A vast audience was assembled there, the Governors of no less than fourteen States, with their gorgeous staffs, occupying positions. Under a canopy sat President Arthur, Secretary Blaine, the other members of the cabinet, the Senators and Congressmen, and many superbly attired French and German officers. After various exercises came an address by the President of the United States, and then responses by the foreign guests, made in their own languages. Then came the centennial ode by Paul Hayne, and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, delivered an address of two hours' length. James Barron Hope, of Virginia, read the centennial poem. At the conclusion of these ceremonies there was to have been a reception by President Arthur, but this was a failure, certainly so far as the Governors were concerned. But the long wait was not lost. On the platform the Governors met in a manner most informal, and presently they withdrew and on the river bluff inaugurated a delightful time. Senator Vance was the life of the assemblage, and entertained with his great store of wit Governors from a dozen States. Gov. Jarvis was the recipient of special attentions. That admirable gentleman, Gov. Hoyt, of Pennsylvania, was remarkably social, and the Pennsylvanians and North Carolinians "fraternized." In the afternoon Senator Vance, Gov. Jarvis and Gov. Hoyt, with their staffs, went aboard the Tallapoosa, and were entertained. Here we met that grand gentleman, Senator Bayard, who took an active part in the enjoyments of the occasion.

On Thursday, the great day of the review, the morning was cloudy and the weather cold, but soon the sky cleared. The troops formed with promptness, and at 9 o'clock the vast plain was alive with soldiers of all arms, and from Michigan, Kentucky, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Georgia, Connecticut, South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia, Vermont, New Hampshire and North Carolina, besides the regulars. From our own State there were fourteen companies, as follows: Raleigh Light Infantry, Goldsboro Rifles, Durham Light Infantry, Edgecombe Guards, Washington Light Infantry, Salisbury Rifles, Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, LaFayette Light Infantry, Hornet's Nest Riflemen, Winston Light Infantry, Anson Veterans, Rockingham Guards and Duplin Rifles. The brigade of two battalions was in command of Gen. B. C. Manly, and was preceded by the North Carolina State Band. Gov. Jarvis and his personal staff occupied positions on the reviewing stand, in rear of General Hancock, and the column of North Carolina troops was led by Adjutant-General Jones, who was accompanied by his staff. The first battalion was in command of Col. R. D. Hancock, and the second of Col. A. H. Worth. The troops marched just after those of New York.

The scene was one never to be forgotten as the great column, miles long, in column of companies swung along. For an hour our troops stood at ease, watching the pageant, until it came their turn to move. They passed the reviewing stand in good style, and when near it were received by cheers from bystanders. Gen. Hancock stood in plain view, his magnificent figure made more splendid by his uniform. By his side stood President Arthur, while back of these were two lines of magnificent attired French and German officers, and still beyond a perfect bank of gorgeous dressed staff officers, surrounding their respective Governors. The march in review was not a long one, and by 11:30 in the morning the troops were back at their camp.

In the afternoon there were many receptions by distinguished gentlemen on board the vessels of the fleet. Gen. Jones and Lieutenant Col. Olds of his staff, accompanied by Capt. F. B. Hamilton, of the Second Artillery well-known in Raleigh, attended that given by Gen. Hancock, on board the St. John. There they met President Arthur, Gen. Hancock, Secretary Blaine and other prominent personages. They also met Senator Wade Hampton, Senator Vance, and Hon. Joseph J. Davis, on whose arm was Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, a lady whose name is so dear to every Southerner.

On the evening of Thursday His Excellency Gov. Jarvis took dinner with Gov. Cornell, of New York. Eight Governors were present. Later in the evening the distinguished party was serenaded by Dodworth's band of 100 pieces. Speeches were made by the Governors, but the best of all, and the one most applauded, was that of Gov. Jarvis. Gov. Cornell and the Governors of many other States called at Gov. Jarvis' headquarters, and he was serenaded by half a dozen bands. It will at once interest and gratify North Carolinians to know that their Executive was the recipient of so many attentions, and that their troops were favorites with the entire camp. The "tarheel" soldiers were models of deportment and kindness, no troops made more friends and were shown more favors. Senator Vance, Gov. Jarvis and Gen. Jones made speeches to the troops, paying them high compliments.

It was decided to hold the grand naval review on Thursday evening. Instead of on Friday. The spectacle was imposing beyond description. There were the French men-of-war, and such ships of our navy as the Tennessee, Vandalia, Trenton, Kearsarge, Franklin, Saratoga, Alarm, etc. Thousands of people witnessed the maneuvers of the fleet, while the air rang with the stunning reports of the great guns of the ships.

The ceremonies thus ended, the camp began to break up. The North Carolina troops left at midnight of Thursday, many of them going to Norfolk, to take part in the parade there on Friday. Governor Jarvis left at 9 o'clock Friday morning, on the beautiful revenue cutter, "Colfax," by special invitation of Captain Frie Gabrielson, her commander. A salute of thirteen guns was fired as the Governor and staff went aboard the cutter, and the State flag of North Carolina was displayed "at the fore." The Colfax steamed up York River, and then put about and passed all the vessels of the navy. The marines on guard on board each ship presented arms as the Colfax passed, while dozens of spy glasses were turned upon our State flag which floated proudly out at the masthead.

On arrival at Norfolk the vessel anchored, another salute of 13 guns was fired, and the Governor went ashore in time to see our troops in the parade. They made an excellent appearance, and were the recipients of a thousand courtesies from their Virginia friends. A banquet given in the evening speeches, appropriate in sentiment and gracefully worded, were made by General William R. Cox, Auditor William P. Roberts and other North Carolinians. Norfolk was in holiday attire, dressed in bunting, brilliant with electric lights and filled with mirth and music. It gracefully devoted this day to our State, naming it "North Carolina Day."

Summing up, in brief, the Yorktown trip and our State's participation in it, was one not to be forgotten. The troops were necessarily subjected to some discomforts, but there were no accidents and no serious cases of sickness. The State is proud of the "State Guard," and with reason. The organization won new honors at Yorktown, and North Carolina, a member of the "Old Thirteen," may for all time to come cherish a memory of the occasion and their share in this celebration.

Kernersville Letter.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—It has been so long since I have had a chance to write, that I have got quite out of the way; but Kernersville is still making headway: Mr. Cicero Stockton has put up a neat cottage aside of the Moravian parsonage, and Mr. Alexander Hasten's house is about being finished, and will be a roomy affair, so that Mrs. H. can scurry to her heart's content. Mr. J. J. Kerners is also putting the finishing touches to "Reuben Rink's" house; down about the depot several houses are going up, and under a canvas tent near by Mr. Matt. Bodenhamer takes "pictures," and what I have seen are pretty good likenesses, the only objection being, that the pictures are better than the originals.

Elder Levy Bodenhamer is on a Missionary preaching tour in the Eastern part of the State; and I had like to forget to write that Uncle Israel Kerner is rejuvenating the "Kerner Hotel," which when finished, will add to its appearance vastly. Dr. Cornelius Kerner has gone down into Davidson county and located near Friedberg church, with the view of practicing his profession; and from what I know, "Little Doc" has been very successful in his practice heretofore; besides, he has an intelligent lady from the Eastern part of the State for his wife, that will prove an acquisition to any community. We hope he will succeed in making a good thing of it. Dr. E. Kerner has been working on his mill to adapt it to a dry weather gauge, and he thinks he can keep on grinding now as long as he has a "thimble-full" of water in the pond.

The other night Mr. Nathaniel Kerner was coming up from his tanyard about ten o'clock, when he heard a disturbance at Uncle John Kerner's pig pen, and turned out of his way to see what the trouble was, and found two men trying to get a pig out to make pork of it, but they took to their heels and left piggy with its mate, to be killed some other day.

Mr. J. W. Beard, they say, wants to sell his farming lands about town and quit farming, as he says it don't pay. He asks only fifty dollars an acre for the land, and a few years ago he bought it for six or eight dollars an acre, a considerable rise. I have been helping in a series of protracted meetings in our churches in the county: At Old Town nearly a week, with Rets. Greider and Lineback, we had a good meeting; and by the way fared sumptuously every day, beans, potatoes, cabbage, roasting-eats and tomatoes, in profusion,—in fact some of us came near being felled. Charles Rank told me that in about six miles up and down Old Town creek there would be several thousand bushels of corn made, where ten years ago there was not an ear growing. My old friend, Lewis Hine, has got back again, and re-established himself in the pottery business, in the old John Butner shop, where the same business was carried on nearly a hundred years ago, when they used to run five and six lathes and could not supply the demand for ware. At Friedland there was also a meeting; Professor Wurreschke was out on Sunday and gave a good sermon; he literally works for nothing and boards himself, for all we could do, we could not keep him with us for dinner. Rev. R. P. Lineback came and spent several days; we all enjoyed it and were sorry when he had to break up, "it seemed kinder home-like," only the old time folks of 35 years ago were missing; upon inquiring, "where are they?" The grave yard near by answered the question. In this neighborhood, too, there will be hundreds of bushels of corn made on the creek bottoms where years ago there was not a stalk. George Willard, Israel Nissen, Nelson Hine, John Reed and Eli Hine have just as good corn as can be had; and go over on the other creek and it is the same thing, corn, corn, where it was swamps a few years ago that you could run a rail nearly clean down.

Next we went to Providence. On Sunday Rets. Greider, Fishel and Woosely, preached. Rets. Hampton and Stults, of the Methodist Church, were likewise there; and on Monday and Tuesday, Rev. R. P. Lineback and myself were added to the number, and we got on finely until Wednesday night, October 8th, when the first frost made its appearance and all hands went to cutting tobacco and the meeting closed.

And last came a meeting at New Philadelphia, beginning the 2nd Sunday in the month. Professor Wurreschke preached here on Sunday morning, Rev. E. P. Greider in the afternoon, and again at night. On Monday Dr. Rondthaler preached in the morning, Rev. Greider in the afternoon and I at night; Tuesday and Wednesday Rev. R. P. Lineback was present and preached several times. We had an interesting meeting; several professed faith in Christ, and we hope this meeting has tended to "strengthen the things that remain and are ready to die." Altogether this was the best meeting of the season. I also had a letter from Rev. T. M. Rights, our only missionary for the present among the Cherokees. He has been holding several day-meetings by himself at different points with good results, and he reports his outlook, at this time, more encouraging than since he has been in that country. His home congregation, at New Spring Place has had quite an accession some time ago. He also visited his old friend, Rev. Stephen Foreman, and preached in his church, at Park Hill. Mr. Foreman is a native Cherokee, and one of the few that are left that came out of the "Old Nation," and while on the move he used to preach to crowded houses, and he has spent a useful life in trying to improve his people.

On the day of the interment of the remains of Pres. Garfield, by proclamation of Kernersville Mayor, business was suspended and the Moravian church was draped in mourning. And by agreement all denominations united in the services of the occasion and the house was as full as it could hold, and the words selected for the occasion were from 2nd Samuel, 3rd chapter 38 and 39: "Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen?" "The Lord shall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedness." So then I have given your readers an outline of what I have seen and been mixed up with in these last weeks, and it is my answer to the question I was asked the other day, "Why don't you write any more for the Press?" C. L. R. Kernersville, N. C., Oct. 18, 1881.

A wise Deacon. "Deacon Wilder, I want you to tell me how you kept yourself and family well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors visiting us so often?" "Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in time; kept my family well and saved the doctor bills. Three dollars' worth of it kept us well and able to work all the time. I'll warrant it has cost you and the neighbors one to two hundred dollars apiece to keep sick the same time." "Deacon, I'll use your medicine hereafter."

The Railroad Meeting.

A large delegation, from all along the N. C. Midland route, met in Winston on Tuesday and Wednesday. President Barbour and Vice-President Morehead were present.

The general impression is that the road will be built, but up to Wednesday noon we have only the following: At the meeting on Wednesday morning, A. Leazer, of Mooreville, in the Chair, and G. W. Hinshaw, of Winston, Secretary, the following Board of Directors was elected by acclamation: C. G. Holland, J. R. Cowan, J. Wilcox Brown, P. W. Hairston, L. W. Anderson, J. M. Vaughn, C. H. Wiley, J. E. Gilmer, J. W. Fries, W. C. Wilson, A. M. Booe, A. Leazer.

A resolution was passed empowering the Directors to locate the road south of Mocksville. Good feeling prevailed, and it is believed that word on the road will be resumed shortly. The Directors met on Wednesday afternoon too late to notice proceedings this week.

Since the above we learn that work will be resumed shortly.

THE STATE FAIR.—Below we give from the premiums awarded at the 21st Annual State Fair, recently held, the following to exhibitors from this section of country:

Miss Sallie Butler, of Salem, best specimen flax, $2.

Wm. Shultz, Salem, best linseed oil, $2.

Mrs. Wm. Shultz, Salem, best ten pound beef, $2.

Mrs. Wm. Shultz, Salem, best ten pounds lard, $2.

H. S. Foy, Winston, best pair of match horses, $5.

C. F. Lowe, Lexington, best stallion, 4 years or over, $15.

C. F. Lowe, Lexington, best bull, $15.

D. N. Pickett, Lexington, best calf, $5.

T. B. Lash, Bethania, best kersys, diploma.

T. B. Lash, Bethania, best piece cassimere, diploma.

T. B. Lash, Bethania, best and largest display of above articles, solid gold medal.

W. E. Turner, Dalton, best sordrum crushing machine, diploma.

Mrs. Murdock, Salisbury, best cotton crocheting, $1.

The list of premiums occupy nearly three and a half columns of the News-Observer, very few awards to the Western portion of the State. Not much interest was taken in the Fair, it seems, in this section of the country.

BETHANIA, N. C., Oct. 22, 1881.

MESSRS. BLUM.—At last quarterly examination of Common School teachers, certificates were issued to the following applicants, viz:

1st Grade.—Messrs. W. H. Bass, J. W. Pinnix, N. H. Smith, E. J. Sapp, J. S. Sides, A. J. Hauser, W. H. Conley, S. A. Sides, J. F. Westmoreland, S. A. Hoge, F. D. L. Messer, S. H. Everett.

2nd Grade.—J. W. Speas, E. L. Kiser, J. S. Spainhower, Miss Emma Wicker, Messrs. F. H. Morris, Wm. F. Sprinkle, J. M. Moon, Miss Bettie Clayton, Mrs. M. Moser.

Messrs. L. Holder, Wm. Keefe, Geo. Hauser, S. A. Hauser, W. H. Golen; Misses Annie Bynum, E. R. Rominger, E. L. Conrad; Messrs. J. G. Fulton, J. T. Armfield, J. L. Armfield, A. L. Petree, C. E. M. Raper, Geo. H. Idol, J. C. Mock, Wm. Linville, J. P. Binkley, D. A. Binkley.

3rd Grade.—Messrs. J. A. Wiesner, Henry Holder, T. P. Haston, E. N. Hoskins.

Colored 3rd Grade.—Misses R. J. Brooks, M. E. Brooks, Sally Washington; Messrs. Henderson Gwyn, S. S. Payne, D. J. Brooks.

At examination last July the following certificates were issued:

1st Class.—H. L. Beckerdite, E. M. Woodburn.

2nd Grade.—A. P. Davis, Miss L. Webb.

The Examiner informs us that he has no doubt if applicants would come to him fewer at a time, they could have a more satisfactory examination than is possible when such a number come before him at one time, as was the case last week, and week before. He has reason to believe, that, in a number of instances, better grades could be obtained by the applicants. It is his intention, in future examinations, to reduce all his questions on the various branches in which such a method is practicable to writing, and receive written answers to them. This course will give every one more time to consider the question, and render any mistake or unfairness to applicants utterly impossible.

—The meeting in the M. E. church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. C. Dodson, closed last Wednesday night. It lasted five weeks and was attended by a marked degree of success. There were sixty-two conversions. We learn that a protracted meeting will be commenced in the M. P. church by Rev. Mr. Amick.—Leader.

STOKES COUNTY.—The Coroner of Stokes was called on last Sunday to hold an inquest over the dead body of Mrs. M. J. Stout, (the married daughter of Wm. H. Lunsford), who was found in the Town Fork creek, at the head of Kiser's Old Forge Pond. The jury after hearing the evidence, rendered a verdict of "voluntary drowning."

There will be a meeting of the Superintendents of all the Sunday Schools in Stokes county on Tuesday of next week, for the purpose of organizing a County Sunday School Association.

There have been on the Stokes circuit this year general spiritual prosperity; between 80 and 90 have been converted and 70 to 72 added to the church. At Davis' Chapel there were 40 conversions and accessions.—Danbury Reporter.

"They cured me of Ague, Biliousness and Kidney Complaint, as recommended. I had a half bottle left, which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them in one night if I had not given them Hop Bitters. They did them so much good I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Hop Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough."—B. Rochester, N. Y.—American Rural Home.
